

December 2011

Building a Vision

GlasPro technology helps bring a bold residential design to life

Designed by renowned architect Guy Dreier, this home in Bonsal California is a striking example of what can be achieved when employing high-quality custom fabricated glass in residential design. Throughout the structure, fabricated glass features create clean, modern lines that resonate a contemporary rhythm of graceful, arching curves and dramatic angles.

Glass components specifically crafted for each area of the residence seamlessly merge form and function in the execution of this bold project. Large-scale curved pieces in windows and stair railings open the home to natural sunlight and stunning panoramic views. Glass lined shower systems with matching shaped transoms are unique to each bathroom. Glass floors and illuminated stair treads feature custom colors and textures. 3/4" cut glass countertops complete the kitchen and recreation room.

As the leading source of complete solutions in glass, Glaspro has built its reputation on bringing the most varied and challenging design projects to fruition.

###